

STEPHANIE B. NELSON, FOUNDER & CEO

With more than 20 years in the information technology industry as both practitioner and strategist, Stephanie has helped drive small business and enterprise to increase operation efficiency through "make sense" technology. Having helped more than 50 small businesses and 5 major corporations to reduce operation inefficiencies, increase data transparency, and create change ready culture, Stephanie helps create competitive business advantage. Over her career she created a 3-phase solution (the secret sauce) to enable organizations to move through integration and change seamlessly. A few of her clients have coined her the "integration whisperer" her ingenuity yielded opportunities to work with some of the top banks, tech companies, government and healthcare companies in the U.S. As an author, speaker, business coach, and entrepreneur she has recently been afforded the opportunity to open her first international office in Nigeria which will serve the continent of Africa. Her favorite pass time is relaxing with family telling the stories of her parents, and enjoying her siblings, nieces and nephews and her amazing son.
